

true beauty

Undiscovered Beauty

*These 12 Knockouts Show Us True Beauty
Does Lie Both Inside and Out.*

Peter and Jennifer Jones

Jennifer Jones saw her first Broadway show, "Pippin," when she was 6 years old and remembers "nearly crying when it ended." Inspired by the show, Jones thrust herself into theater, co-founding StarStruck, a performing school and theater, in 1999 with soul mate and fellow theater lover, Peter. And as thousands of student performers pass through their doors, both Peter and Jennifer look not only to inspire the youngsters, but also their audiences. "At least for 2 1/2 hours we allow [theater-goers] to escape in a world of laughter and music," Peter says. "That's why we do it."

By Nila Do and Sydnee Newman

Photography by Diane Dultmeier